Dear Islanders Fans,

On behalf of everyone in the Islanders organization, thank you for being the most dedicated, passionate and loyal fanbase in the National Hockey League. Your love for the team played a pivotal role throughout the 2020-21 season.

This was another challenging year for everyone with respect to the Covid-19 pandemic. We will always remain inspired and thankful for all the first responders and frontline workers who made it safe for us to return to the Coliseum.

From the first note of the national anthem sung by our fans to the horn that ended the game, you made the atmosphere the best in the National Hockey League. I can assure you that the energy you brought to the arena during the playoffs had a positive effect on the performance of the team.

We look forward to you bringing that same enthusiasm to UBS Arena at Belmont Park this fall.

Thank you again for your unwavering support. Be assured, preparation for the 2021-22 season has begun.

Respectfully,

Lou Lamoriello
